

International Scientific Conference
Experimental Economics in Russia
November 6, 2019

11 Pokrovsky Boulevard, room R-206

09:00-09:30	Registration
09:30-10:00	Welcome Speech by Alexis Belianin, Ph.D., Head of the International Laboratory for Experimental and Behavioural Economics, HSE (Moscow)
10:00-10:45	Performance Appraisal and Team Cooperation – Evidence from Germany and China by Gari Walkowitz Ph.D., TUM School of Governance (Munich)
10:45-11:15	Social Status and Social Learning by Alexei Zakharov, Ph.D. Associate Professor, Faculty of Economic Sciences, Senior Research Fellow, International Laboratory for Experimental and Behavioral Economics, HSE (Moscow)
11:15-11:45	The Double Cheating Game by Alexis Belianin, Ph.D., Senior Researcher, International Laboratory for Experimental and Behavioral Economics, HSE (Moscow)
11:45-12:00	Coffee-break
12:00-12:45	How Does Self-Selection Affect Team Performance? by Rainer M. Rilke, Ph.D. Associate Professor, WHU – Otto Beisheim School of Management (Dusseldorf)
12:45-13:15	Whistleblowing and Cooperation: an Experiment by Philipp Chapkovsky, Ph.D., Research Fellow, International Laboratory for Experimental and Behavioral Economics, HSE (Moscow)
13:15-14:00	Social Norms Toward Corruption: a Bribery Experiment by Tatiana Zhuravleva, Ph.D., Associate Professor, Research Fellow, International Laboratory for Game Theory and Decision Making, HSE (St. Petersburg)
14:00-14:15	Coffee-break
14:15-14:45	Higher-order Learning by Piotr Evdokimov, Ph.D., Associate Professor, Faculty of Economic Sciences, Department of Applied Economics, HSE (Moscow)
14:45-15:30	Making Decisions on Intransitivity of Superiority: Is a General Normative Model Possible? by Alexander Poddiakov, Ph. D., Professor, Leading Researcher, International Laboratory for Experimental and Behavioral Economics, HSE (Moscow)
15:30-16:00	Conclusion: Laboratory Presentation, 11 Pokrovsky Boulevard, N-502